Torrance Graduate Selected For Honors at West Point

In recognition of achieving high standards of academic performance at the United States Military Academy, West Point, N.Y., Richard D. Woodward, a 1962 Torrance High School graduate, has been named to the Dean's List.

This means Woodward ranks within the upper 30 per cent of his class as indicated by the average daily grades earned in all academic subjects.

Outstanding scholarship attainment was shown in all subjects. However, he placed eighth and eighteenth from the top of the list of 6000 students in his class in the areas of German and mathematics.

Out of a total possible of 3.00 grade points, Woodward piled up a grade point average of 2.56.

According to Torrance High School Principal Dr. Carl Ahee, several letters from Woodward have been received since his appointment expressing appreciation for the soundness of the instruction he received in the Torrance schools.

Frampton Ave. Storm Drain Project Wins County Okay

The Board of Supervisors has approved modifications to two lines of the proposed four-pronged Frampton Ave. storm drain in Harbor City.

Action was taken a recommendation of County Flood Control District Chief Engineer M. E. Salsbury following detailed engineering studies of the project.

Estimated cost is $515,800. Realignment will affect portions of Lines C and D of the drain. The downstream section of Line C will be realigned to run southeasterly in Anaheim St. from Belle Porte Ave. to Frampton Ave., north in Frampton for about 100 feet, and east in rights-of-way to an existing drain carrying water into Bixby Slough.

The change in Line D involves deletion of the line north of Anaheim St. Modifications are expected to increase the overall protection in the area served by these two lines.

The project is being designed by the City of Los Angeles as part of the $225 million storm drain bond issue approved in 1958.

The project will be built by private contractors selected on a competitive bid basis under supervision of the Flood Control District. The district also will handle operation and maintenance of the drainage artery when completed.

Line changes were requested by Lyall A. Pardee, Los Angeles City Engineer, Supervisor Chace said.

Riviera Cited For Largest Use of Blood

Riviera Community Hospital used the second largest amount of Red Cross blood among voluntary, non-profit hospitals in the Torrance and Harbor City area during the past year, it was announced today by Robert Lyons, administrator.

Lyons said the Riviera supply or Red Cross blood totaled 496 pints.

All of this blood was provided by volunteer donors, and was supplied without cost other than administrative charges, to the patients.

Riviera Community Hospital is a 96-bed non-profit, general voluntary community hospital, serving the entire South Bay area.

School for Housewives Announced

"Holiday for the Hostess," a cooking school, will be presented by the Torrance Recreation Department and the Southern California Edison Company Wednesday, at 9:30 a.m. at the new Recreation Center Building, 3341 Torrance Blvd.

Home Economists Sonia Bubar and Jeanne Havert will demonstrate ideas for Holiday cooking. Special holiday cook books will be distributed. Refreshments will be served.

The program is open to the public; there is no admission charge.

Nurses Get Brushup In Hospital Program

Seven Torrance women recently were graduated from the first nurse refresher course to be held at South Bay Hospital, Redondo Beach, it was announced by hospital spokesmen.

They are Thelma Bain, 5320 Linda Dr.; Marie Brosh, 17512 Yukon Ave.; June Hagen, 4640 Darien St.; Harriet Hollis, 5436 Edgemere Dr.; Constance Priestly, 5224 Vanderhill Rd.; Rose Mary Smith, 4809 Binde-wald St., and Dorothy Springer, 2251 Linda Dr.

All are registered nurses. The 16 registered nurses in the course attended lectures, demonstrations, training films, and practiced using hospital equipment to "refresh" themselves in nursing skills and modern methods.

four-week period, nurses were active in "on-the-floor" instruction in use of hospital equipment and application of modern nursing technique. Instructor for the course was Miss Alice R. Holihan, R.N., director of in-service education at South Bay Hospital.

In afternoons during the month-long course, nurses attended lectures by leading South Bay area physicians who are specialists in the medical fields they covered by lecture. Lectures informed nurses of exact nursing problems connected with specific types of illnesses and surgeries. Training films prepared by leading pharmaceutical houses and medical institutions also were shown in the afternoon.

designed for nurses who have been out of the nursing profession long enough to be unfamiliar with modern nursing techniques and hospital equipment, Miss Holihan said.

Many students had been away from nursing for 15 or 20 years. Others had never worked in the nursing profession after finishing nurse training, she said.

Completion of the course enables RNs to step into nursing situations in any modern general hospital, Miss Holihan said. A side benefit to the public-at-large is the easing of the nursing shortage which results when the pool of experienced nurses is increased through retraining programs such as the South Bay Hospital "refresher course," Miss Holihan said.

'Army' Musters Against Polio

(Continued from Page One) and frontal assault on polio, it is expected, will be the more than 50,000 persons who received Type I Sabin vaccine at October clinics, as well as those who missed it but can receive Type I later from family physicians.

The Southland SOS (Sabin-on-Sundays) drive is a three-stage program, because Sabin vaccine comes in three types aimed at three separate polio viruses.

"If the bulk of the population co-operates," observed Dr. Ian McDonald, president of the Los Angeles County Medical Association, "polio can be reduced to only an occasional case, more a curiosity than anything else."

Simultaneous Sabin vaccine clinics are being held by medical associations in Ventura, Orange, Riverside, San Diego and Imperial Counties, he said. The Type II clinics will again be held Sunday, Dec. 9, for those unable to attend the first Sunday. In both cases, doors will be open from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., to immunize everyone over the age of three months.

"Even those who have had Salk shots should by all means take the Sabin vaccines also," asserted Dr. Reginald H. Smart, chairman of the association's public health committee. "Sabin provides extra protection for the individual and clears him as a carrier of the disease, which Salk does not."

Millions of pre-registration forms have been distributed through schools, stores, pharmacies and other public places, and are being published in newspapers, along with addresses of clinics, and families are urged to fill out forms in advance to save time at immunization centers. Those who do not will have to fill out forms at the clinics. A token donation of 25 cents per person will be requested at the clinics but none will be turned away for inability to pay.

"This tremendous community undertaking would have been impossible," Dr. Smart commented, "without the widespread co-operation of family physicians, nurses, pharmacists, pharmaceutical firms, PTA's, local health departments, schools, Boy Scouts and business, fraternal, civic, patriotic and other organizations."

Area Nursing Students Cited For High Vocational Honors

Seven Torrance area girls have helped Harbor College rank high in statewide vocational nursing examinations, school spokesmen say.

Results from the State Board of Vocational Nurse Examinations, which were taken last August, place 32 Harbor College students in third place out of 43 schools participating.

Representing Torrance are Beatrice Joy Baker, Lucille V. Hill, Louetta C. Nicolle, Clestabelle L. Sutton and Jane Ward Weiss. From Lomita is Eva G.

Wadsley and from Dominguez is Anita Marie Ratliff.

With 19 students, Fullerton Junior College ranked first with the highest average score of 612.2. The group of 23 from Mount San Antonio College placed second with an average score of 603.8, and the 32 Vocational Nursing students from Harbor College were third with their average score of 586.9.

The state average for California is 526.8, while the national average score is 515.6. A passing grade is 425.

All of Harbor's students have been placed in good positions of their choice. A married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Price, are now working with retarded children for the County Probation Department.

According to Miss Lindberg, the State Employment Service calls nursing a distressed area with not enough qualified and trained personnel to fill the need throughout the state.

Of the sixty-four vocational students presently enrolled at Harbor College, there are only 17 new students who entered the program this fall semester.

"Requirements for entering the field of Vocational Nursing are not stringent," states Miss Lindberg. No previous courses are required, a high school diploma is not necessary, and age, sex, or marital status are not factors.
